After the original battle between these historic animals there was only a harvest of dismantled plumage, plucked out hair and broken furniture.

sode there seems to have been more kinds of trouble at once than usually fall to the lot of even the most disorganized household.

To begin with, there is an imposing array of dramatis personic and five diselder boarders, Mrs. Sarah D. Ashley, against Dr. Davis, one being a criminal action for assault and the other a civil proceeding on the same grounds.

Mrs. Ashley's other suit is against Dr.

Parrish for alleged slander. Ten thousand dollars damages are asked for in he civil suit against Dr. Davis, while that amount.

to be an actor. One is against his wife, and is for an absolute divorce on statu-tory grounds, and the other is against Jose Sanchez for alienating his wife's affections. He places their value at $10,000. Mrs. Mitchell, the landlady of the house of many wrangles, is a southern woman of good family. She is greatly prostrated at the troubles which have multiplied about her. Mrs. Lillian Woodworth came to her house last summer, but all went well until Miss Mamie Hart took a front room two flights up in the house last November.

Our patrons reap the benefit as tollows:

Our patrons reap the benefit as tollows on the first floor and Jose Sanchez had the large front room on the second floor. Mrs. Mitchell had the bade of the patrons of t back rooms on the same floor with her two boys. Up stairs in the rear Mrs. Voodworth and Mrs. Ashley had separate rooms. Miss Hart took the large door, and, after knocking, cried out:

"Tell that man to come out."
"Go away," cried Mrs. Woodworth in reply. "What do you mean by say-

"Mrs. Mitchell, it was a man! Look at him. It is Dr. Parrish!"

Mrs. Mitchell, commenting on this scene, said to me:—
"I was surprised, of course, but I didn't see why Mrs. Ashley should treat a man as if he were a bat. As for as me, I don't pay much attention to men. I knew there was some noise in the boarders' rooms, but thought there was no harm in their playing cards there, even if it was late. the faithfulness with which its losses are adjusted and paid.

"Once when they had driven the tenants out of two of my rooms, Mrs. Ashley found the doctors there and tried to lock the door, but instead they shut the door on her and left her locked in for several hours. "Finally, I told Sauchez and Mrs. Manufacturers of Woodworth to leave the house and they did so. That was during the week ending January 23.

"I spoke to Dr. Davis about his conduct and that of Dr. Parish and he said to me: 'Mrs. Mitchell, you want to keep congenial people in your house.

That's the way to pay your rent.
"Mrs. Ashley is a very sweet little woman, and looks older than she is on ly as the plumbing here is in a shocking condition."

Mrs. Ashley frequently interrupted Mrs. Mitchell as she told her story with "Oh, sweet lady, please don't talk at all; remember this is all going belittle boys.

She added that the people who patronized the house were of the very best class and that she had been shocked at what had happened, but had not left the house, as Mrs. Mitchell was a dear friend of hors.
